II.A. Uses of Education Stabilization funds by LEAs

Provide a concise narrative of how LEAs in your state have generally used Education Stabilization funds, and the impact that the funds had on elementary and secondary education in your State from October 1, 2010 to September 30, 2011:

Entry from previous timeframe:

SFSF, Education State Grants Recovery Act funds were used to: (1) avert layoffs of teachers and other personnel such as food service, bus drivers, teacher assistants, custodians, office staff, librarians, and instructional aids; (2) help further education reform in the key areas of teacher quality, standards and assessments; (3) implement longitudinal data activities to improve instruction; and (4) provide academic support to schools.

| Total: | $420,067,640.00 |

II.B. Uses of Education Stabilization funds by public IHEs

Provide a concise narrative of how public IHEs in your State have generally used Education Stabilization funds, and the impact that the funds have had on postsecondary education in your State from October 1, 2010 to September 30, 2011:

Entry from previous timeframe:

The funding received by the University of California was used to cover faculty payroll expenses that normally would have been supported by the General Fund. The California State University used the funds to preserve the services of instructional faculty and staff to accommodate approximately 355,000 full-time college year students. The California Community Colleges used the funds to preserve student support positions in addition to other uses such as paying property and liability insurance, utility bills, computer supplies and library equipment. The overall impact was the preservation of quality educational programs and instruction related services that allowed students to continue planned progress to degree.

II.C. Uses of Government Services funds by entities

Provide a concise narrative of how entities in your State (including State agencies) have generally used Government Services funds, and how the funds have affected the State's provision of services from October 1, 2010 to September 30, 2011:

Entry from previous timeframe:

The California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation received $726.8 million in 2008-09 and $358 million in 2009-10 which was used to fund correctional officer salaries. The services provided by these funds included: (1) security for incarcerated state inmates; (2) escort of inmates to educational, vocational, medical, dental, mental health, and other appointments and programs; and (3) transportation and security of inmates for medical and court appointments outside prison facilities. Without the ARRA funding, services would have had to been reduced, funding would have had to been secured from other sources, or taxes would have had to been increased.

III.A. & B. Tuition and Fees

Describe any actions taken by the State to limit increases in tuition and fees imposed by public IHEs for in-State students:

Entry from previous timeframe:

University of California (UC): While fee increases were still necessary, SFSF funding enabled UC to avoid additional layoffs that would have had impacts on course offerings, library hours, student services, and other critical functions. Without SFSF funds, it is likely that UC would have been forced to increase fees further to maintain critical functions. To replace the $716.5 million in SFSF funds provided during 2008-09 and 2009-10, UC would have required an additional 23% fee increase on a temporary basis (not counting additional increases necessary to fund financial aid) to cover half of the shortfall and would have required an assignment of $358.3 million of budget reductions in each of those fiscal years to campuses, requiring cuts to course offerings, library hours, student services and other activities. California State University (CSU): Limiting the use of SFSF funds to direct instructional support eliminated the need for any additional increase in CSU 2008-09 fees to accommodate what would have been a $268 million loss in budget support without the federal funds. In 2009-10, CSU implemented a 10% fee increase to mitigate the impact of a 10% across-the-board reduction in state funding that was initiated in the initial version (February 2009) of the 2009-10 budget, equating to a $371 million decrease in CSU base funding. SFSF was used to prevent further erosion of CSU instruction-related funding and prevent additional increases above the approved 10% in the student fees. CSU implemented an additional 20% fee increase in response to state budget actions that were implemented to address additional revenue shortfalls in the revised version (July 2009) of the 2009-10 budget. There were no additional federal funds available to mitigate this $266 million reduction to CSU's budget. To reduce the need for additional fee increases, CSU implemented employee furloughs that had the fiscal impact of reducing employee salaries by 9.2% and continuing consolidations and efficiencies to reduce costs. California Community Colleges (CCC): Student fees for the CCC are set by the California Legislature and Governor in the annual state budget. As they were negotiating the budget for 2009-10, state leaders faced a multi-billion dollar budget deficit that required reductions in almost every sector of state government. In the final budget, the CCC took a $520 million cut, or 8%. As a result, both the number of course sections and the level of student services were cut. While increases in student fees were considered during budget negotiations as a means to partially offsetting budget cuts, there was a great reluctance on the part of state leaders to increase enrollment fees for in-state students at the same time students and their families were experiencing the fiscal hardships of the current recession. The $35 million of SFSF funds allocated to CCC provided one-time relief to partially mitigate the negative impacts of the budget cuts. In the final 2009-10 budget, fees were not increased for in-state CCC students. It is fair to say that the SFSF funds had a material bearing on the 2009-10 budget negotiations and tipped the scales against an increase in student fees.

Please update for the new timeframe:

University of California (UC): While fee increases were still necessary, SFSF funding enabled UC to avoid additional layoffs that would have had impacts on course offerings, library hours, student services, and other critical functions. Without SFSF funds, it is likely that UC would have been forced to increase fees further to maintain critical functions. To replace the $823.1 million in SFSF funds provided during 2008-09 and through 2010-11, UC would have required an additional 26% fee increase on a temporary basis (not counting additional increases necessary to fund financial aid) to cover half of the shortfall and would have required an assignment of $411.5 million of budget reductions in each of those fiscal years to campuses, requiring cuts to course offerings, library hours, student services and other activities. California State University (CSU): In FY 10/11, CSU used $106.6 million in supplemental ARRA-SFSF funds to fund direct payroll support for increased instructional activities associated with the restoration of courses reduced in FY 09/10, which increased CSU enrollment access for over 15,000 full-time equivalent students. California Community Colleges (CCC): The ARRA funds were used to help backfill the cuts to student support programs like counseling and orientation. The California Community Colleges are committed to improving student success, including the progression to degrees or certificates, and facilitating transfers to 4-year colleges and universities. The ARRA funds helped colleges maintain counseling and support services to help students progress faster and more efficiently to their career and academic goals.

IV. Tax Increases Averted

Estimate the degree to which State tax increases were averted because of the availability of SFSF funds.

Entry from previous timeframe:

California has increased revenue through a variety of statutes since September of 2008 – primarily accelerations and temporary tax increases. These increases have generated an estimated $3.2 billion revenue in 2008-09 (4% of General Fund revenue), $13.1 billion revenue in 2009-10 (15.5% of General Fund revenue), and $8.7 billion in 2010-11 (9.7% of General Fund revenue). Because California was already compelled to increase taxes to fill its budget shortfall during those fiscal years, it is plausible that without the $6 billion of SFSF funds that additional tax increases would have been considered by the state to mitigate the need for deeper service reductions in K-12 schools, institutes of higher education, and prisons.

Please update for the new timeframe:

California has increased revenue through a variety of statutes since September of 2008 – primarily accelerations and temporary tax increases. These increases have generated an estimated $4.0 billion revenue in 2008-09 (5% of General Fund revenue), $13.1 billion revenue in 2009-10 (15.5% of General Fund revenue), and $7.9 billion in 2010-11 (8.8% of General Fund revenue). Because California was already compelled to increase taxes to fill its budget shortfall during those fiscal years, it is plausible that without the $6 billion of SFSF funds that additional tax increases would have been considered by the state to mitigate the need for deeper service reductions in K-12 schools, institutes of higher education, and prisons.

V. Jobs Saved or Created

In its quarterly reports submitted under section 1512 of ARRA, each State provided data on, among other things, the number of jobs estimated to have been saved or created as a result of SFSF support. The Department will use the information that has been reported to determine the number of jobs that have been saved or created. For the purposes of the Initial Annual Report, the State is not required to provide any additional information on the number of jobs estimated to have been saved or created.

VI. Progress in Advancing Education Reform

A. Reducing inequities in the distribution of highly qualified teachers:

Describe the steps that the State has taken, from October 1, 2010 through September 30, 2011, to reduce inequities in the distribution of highly qualified teachers.

Entry from previous timeframe:

In September 2010 the California State Board of Education approved the updated version of the state's Equity Plan. This plan fully reflects the steps the state is currently taking to ensure that students from low-income families and minority students are not taught at higher rates than other students by inexperienced, unqualified, or out-of-field teachers. Furthermore, the Equity Plan requires that local educational agencies (LEAs) develop and implement initiatives to promote the retention of highly qualified teachers and principals. These initiatives include a district-level written equity plan, the equitable distribution plan (EDP). LEAs that do not provide all students access to highly qualified teachers (HQTs) are required to create and implement an EDP for teachers and administrators. The EDP has four components including: 1) teacher qualifications, 2) teacher experience and support, 3) principal experience and support, and 4) recruitment and retention. For each component, LEAs are required to submit data tables, guiding questions and analysis, and documentation of specific strategies addressing inequities in teacher and principal assignment, support, and retention. The review and approval process of the EDP by CDE staff is designed to ensure that the LEA's strategies are relevant and feasible to implement. In addition, the ED, Title II Office has copies of sample local plans on file.
